

I am really tired of these non believers trying to tell me how to live my life. They have the choise not listen to K-Love and change the channel. I listen to K-Love everyday. It has brought peace to my life. I have been through several moments were K-Love has been my only source of comfort. I have delt with suicide of close friend to alcholism. K-Love has brought my husband closer to me and his family. He has come to accept God! My family and friends help support K-Love any way possible. That is our decison to make not evryone elses.

Thank you!
